THREE BOYS HURT BUT NOT SERIOUSLY

White Was Enroute To Sharon In Small Car When Accident Occurred

Ralph J. White, Jr., 26, of 508 Pine street, prominent service station manager here, was almost instantly killed at 4:30 p. m. Tuesday when the Austin car he was driving was struck by a 40-passenger Harmony Line Bus at Bobby's Corners on the New Castle-Sharon road, near Farrell.

White's three boy companions, Frank Rogan, 11, of 213 West Grant street, James Confer, 8, of 110 West Grant street, and Robert Cunningham, 10, of 312 Beaver street, who were going with him to Sharon "for the ride," miraculously escaped serious injuries.

PA NEWC OBSERVES

Extensive repairs are being made to the paving on Highland avenue by the State Highway Department. Highland avenue is about ripe for a resurfacing job, many believe.

Leaves are falling from some of the trees on the city streets, in great quantities. Motorists should beware of this menace, for wet leaves on the streets provide a treacherous traffic condition.

Twenty mile per hour warning signs, although outlawed some time ago, are still to be found throughout the city.

William Minner and Mike Quinn, who live in New Castle and work in Sharon, report that while on their way to work Monday morning, a buck deer jumped into the road in front of their machine, about two miles from the end of Highland avenue.

Establishment of the recording rain guage here by the Department of Forests and Waters will prove valuable in future court cases where evidence of weather conditions is sometimes needed. The United States weather observer, B. F. Johnson, keeps a daily record of precipitation and cloud conditions, but particular attention is not paid to the time it starts to rain and the time it quits. The recording rain guage which was installed this week will automatically register the time it starts to rain, the time it quits, and the exact amount which falls within any given period of time.

Britain Seeks Plan To End Spanish War

Cabinet Hopes To Persuade Italy To Agree To Conclusion Of War

By KINGSBURY SMITH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, Sept. 29.—Britain's cabinet met today to approve a new British plan designed to persuade Italy—by threats and by cajolery—to agree to a general settlement of the Spanish civil war.

The British government, International News Service learned, will notify Italy secretly, through diplomatic channels, that if she refuses to agree to withdraw her "volunteers" from Spain, Britain will be "reluctantly compelled to acquiesce" in the French intention to open the Franco-Spanish frontier.

Such action by France, with British agreement, would permit any amount of men and war materials to pour over the Pyrenees into Spanish loyalist territory to reinforce the Spanish government in fighting the insurgents.

May Recognize Conquests.

On the other hand, it was revealed

Autopsy May Reveal Cause Of Five Year Sleep Of Chicago Girl

By PHILIP G. REED
International News Service Staff Correspondent

CHICAGO, Sept. 29.—Medical science may write an historic epilogue to the tragic story of Oak Park's "sleeping beauty".

When Patricia Maguire slipped quietly into death last night at the age of 32 after a sleep lasting five years and seven months, doctors were left as puzzled as ever over her strange malady.

But today, it was said, the girl's grief-stricken mother would allow an autopsy in the hope that some light may be shed on Patricia's illness and reflected on humanity as a whole.

In the 67 months that Miss Maguire lay in her unfathomable coma, doctors the world over have studied her case. Scientists from both this country and abroad have traveled to the little stucco bungalow in suburban Oak Park to try and unravel the mystery.

But repeated examinations and diligent research resulted only in a diagnosis that she was suffering from a form of encephalitis lethargica, or sleeping sickness, which they did not recognize and for which they knew no cure.

Japan Will Push War Despite League Action

By JAMES R. YOUNG
International News Service Staff Correspondent

TOKYO, Sept. 29.—Foreign criticism of her conduct of the Chinese war—even condemnation voted by 52 nations represented in the League of Nations Assembly—cannot deter Japan from her "true responsibilities," a foreign office spokesman announced today.

In a specially prepared answer, the spokesman gave the Japanese government's unyielding reaction to the mounting wave of anti-Japanese sentiment among foreign nations resulting from Japanese bombings of open Chinese cities.

The spokesman lashed back at the resolution adopted by the league assembly, condemning and expressing the "world's horror" at bombardment of Chinese non-combatants by Japanese planes.

"Unreliable Reports?"

"For the sake of the league's prestige," he declared, "its discussion and action should have been based on something better than unreliable

ATTEMPT FAILS; SHIP UNDAMAGED

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)

SHANGHAI, Sept. 29.—The United States cruiser Augusta, at anchor off Shanghai, was gravely endangered today by a spectacular Chinese attempt to blow the Japanese flagship Idzumo out of the Yangtze river.

The Chinese effort missed its mark and neither vessel was damaged, but the mine which had been meant to blow the Idzumo to bits exploded with a blast that shook the city from end to end.

Starts New Battle

The detonation signalled the commencement of a new battle that menaced residents of the foreign section.

Japanese authorities issued a communique stating the explosion was caused by a mine detonated from the shore in an effort to wreck the Japanese flagship, which has repeatedly bombarded native quarters of Shanghai with its heavy guns, but has escaped damage with a persistence that superstitious Chinese regard as "miraculous."

British sources here disputed the Japanese contention that a mine

Japan Declares Terrorist War Is Not Being Waged

Embassy Denies Charges Made By China And Defends Action

STATEMENT MADE AT WASHINGTON

By ROBERT G. NIXON
International News Service Staff Correspondent
(Copyright, 1937.)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29.—The Japanese government today denied, through its embassy here, China's charges she is waging a terrorist war against defenseless civilian noncombatants by indiscriminate air raids on China cities.

In an exclusive interview with International News Service, Y. Suma, counselor and charge d'affaires of the Japanese embassy, made this defense of Japan's military maneuvers in China:

1. Japan is not engaged in war in China but is defending the rights conveyed her under the Boxer protocol and other treaties, and defending the lives of her nationals residing in China.

2. Japanese air raids have been and will continue to be directed solely against military objectives.

3. Japan is not violating the nine-power pact as her military operations are in defense of her rights and she is not assailing China's territorial integrity, guaranteed by the pact.

4. Japan hopes China will agree to an early peace.

Refuses To Make Statement To Army Of Reporters Greeting Him

International News Service Staff Correspondent

NORFOLK, Va., Sept. 29.—Deaf to the blandishments of an army of reporters, Associate Justice Hugo L. Black flatly refused on his arrival here today to discuss the charge he is a life member of the Ku Klux Klan.

Justice Black announced any statement made by him will be made in a manner whereby the nation's public can "hear me" and in a manner allowing for no misquotation.

"If I make any statement it will be in a way the public can understand it," Black told reporters during a ten-minute press conference on top deck of the ship a few minutes before landing at Norfolk.

SEATTLE, Wash., Sept. 29.—President and Mrs. Roosevelt found welcome seclusion today at the home of their son-in-law and daughter, John and Anna Boettiger, after completing a 3,000 mile cross-country train ride featured by rousing receptions that recalled his victorious campaigns of 1932 and 1936.

Quiet rest and romp with his two grandchildren, "Sistie" and "Buzzie" Dall, Mrs. Boettiger's children, were the chief activities on the presidential schedule today. The Roosevelt's oldest son, James, and his wife, Betsy, also were here.

Plan Special Call For Legislature

Governor Earle Shaping Plans

"Bootleg Coal" Problem To Be One Of Big Issues Before Session

OTHER ISSUES ARE TO BE INCLUDED

By TONY S. SMITH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, Sept. 29.—Gov. George H. Earle's call for the projected special session of the legislature in 1938 began to take shape today.

Although observers believed there would undoubtedly be additions to the list before January or February, when the governor has said he expects to summon the lawmakers, many important issues to be legislated upon have already been tentatively determined. They were:

1. Solution of the "bootleg" coal problem and general rehabilitation of the ailing anthracite industry.
2. General reform of the commonwealth's criminal laws.
3. City-county consolidation for Philadelphia.
4. A new "bill of rights" to revise the present state laws governing freedom of speech, press and worship.

This week Governor Earle accentuated what he terms the most important subjects to be dealt with in nearly "inevitable" extraordinary legislative session—the ills of the state's hard coal industry and a new codification of the criminal statutes.

caused the blast. They said the projectile was hurled at the Idzumo from a motor or torpedo boat.

U. S. Flagship Near

The Augusta, flagship of Admiral Harry E. Yarnell, commander of the United States Asiatic fleet, was anchored near the Idzumo.

A series of violent explosions marked the renewed hostilities on the Shanghai front, imperiling Americans and other foreigners along the northern fringes of the international settlement.

The Japanese claimed they had registered advances over the entire 22-mile front from Chapei to Liu-Ho, while the Chinese insisted they had not yielded a foot of ground.

Chinese officials admitted, however, that their troops had suffered severe losses. But they claimed the Chinese machine guns took a heavy toll of Japanese troops. A specific Japanese claim that they had occupied Liuhang, some 10 miles northwest of Shanghai, was hotly denied by Chinese officials. The renewed battle here, which followed further Japanese air raids, was launched by the shattering explosion at 4:30 a. m.

ment over the radio, Justice Black said:

"If the statement is made the public will hear it."

"Do you mean the radio," the reporters insisted.

"That's one of the best ways to do it," he answered.

Justice Black will motor back to Washington immediately.

To all other questions he made the same answer:

"If I make a statement the public will hear it."

A reporter asked:

"Will you comment on your alleged membership in the mystic realm."

Going To Court Office

Unperturbed the justice answered:

"When and if I make a statement on any subject I will make it in a way I can't be misquoted and where the nation can hear it."

To the question: "Will you take your seat when the supreme court meets next week," Black made no reply.

"When would you make this statement," he was asked.

"If a statement is made ample notice will be given the public," he replied.

"Where are you going when you reach the capital."

"I am going direct to my supreme court office," he answered.

Before talking to newspapermen, the justice posed for cameramen and newsreels for five minutes. He was in extremely good humor. He dropped his smile in only one instance. That was when first greeted by correspondents as the boat lay off quarantine and a reporter offered him clippings from a Pittsburgh newspaper detailing his alleged connection with the Klan.

Accompanied by his wife, the newly-appointed supreme court jurist returned to the United States aboard the liner City of Norfolk after a European vacation interrupted by published charges he took an oath as life member of the hooded order.

Such recognition has long been a point of close bargaining between London and Rome. The Italian government has brought it up repeatedly in negotiations toward a general European pacification.

The cabinet today also is expected to approve terms of the Anglo-French note inviting Italy to participate in a tri-partite conference which may be held in London, with Spain as its chief topic of discussion.

The note, it was learned, will be "blunt but friendly". It will not be anything in the nature of an ultimatum and will emphasize that settlement of the Spanish conflict is essential to the appeasement of Europe.

Minor Judiciary Too Lenient With Auto Violators

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Sept. 29.—Gov. George H. Earle was urged today to "put a sense of social obligation in the members of the minor judiciary" in dealing with automobile code violators.

Reporting its findings of an investigation, instituted before the state police and highway patrol were merged, a committee, headed by Col. A. S. Janeway, director of the general state authority, said:

"The weak point in any campaign of law enforcement in the field of traffic control is the justice of peace, alderman, or, magistrate. This official is usually the last resort of the reckless driver who fails to receive leniency from the police. Many good cases honestly prosecuted by the latter may be thrown out of the minor judiciary because political advantage may follow for the party to which the 'judge' belongs."

C., and then start the homeward trip to Washington by way of Grand Coulee, a New Deal hydro-electric and irrigation project in Washington on the Columbia river; Montana, North Dakota, Michigan, Wisconsin, Illinois, and Ohio.

Mr. Roosevelt appeared at one administration-financed dam on the Columbia river yesterday when he spoke at the Bonneville project in Oregon. He promised the section the "widest use" of water power generated by the $51,000,000 project.

The president's principal appearance on his home-bound trip will be at Chicago on October 5. He will dedicate the city's new Centennial bridge, a Public Works Administration project, and will arrive at the White House in Washington October 6.

Jury Hears "Racy" Magazine Stories

Mrs. Mary H. Ellis Reads Excerpts While District Attorney Points Way

The case of Thomas F. Harris of Ellwood City charged with selling magazines containing immoral matter, is still on trial before Judge W. Walter Braham at Lawrence county court. Testimony for the commonwealth is not yet completed.

Mrs. Mary H. Ellis of Philadelphia, who is the prosecutor in the case, is going over a big stack of magazines and reading to the jury portions of printed material in the magazines. She is seated on a chair in front of the jury, and as she turns the pages of the magazines District Attorney Mont L. Alley calls attention to passages in the magazines which are scored with red ink.

She then reads them to the jury, and the notes are taken down by the stenographer.

THE RAIN OF DEATH

IT GROWS clearer than ever, from the operations in China, that the determining factor in warfare, now and hereafter, is going to be the airplane. It is rapidly attaining a power that can destroy cities, armies and navies. Its ability to kill civilians and wreck the works of peaceful civilization is the most obvious fact today. Its great danger lies in the ability to inflict so much more damage than it suffers itself.

If our mechanical civilization is destroyed, it seems most likely to be done by this weapon, its own most wonderful product.

It also grows clearer that if our civilization is to be saved, it will require world control of such weapons. Without that, there may be fiercer and fiercer national competition in armament and destruction until everything is ruined.

We are reminded again of the surprising foresight of Tennyson, the "Victorian" poet, when in his youth, nearly a century ago, he—

"Saw the heavens filled with shouting; and there rained a ghastly dew
From the nations' airy navies, grappling in the central blue,
Far long the world-wide whisper of the south wind, rushing warm
With the standards of the peoples plunging through the battle-storm,
Till the war drum throbbed no longer, and the battle-flags were furled
In the Parliament of Man, the Federation of the World."

Many thought they saw this prophecy being fulfilled when, after the World War, the League of Nations was organized and seated at Geneva. But that step, apparently, was premature. The nations were not ready. Perhaps they had not yet suffered enough. At any rate, the world's leading statesmen had not really sensed the danger. Airplane power then was in its infancy, used for little more than scouting purposes. And the idea of world solidarity was too novel.

Now the lesson begins to reach all thinking people. The Geneva league is obviously a failure; but people's minds begin to stir, wondering if some kind of cooperative control cannot be achieved soon to save the promised Age of Gold from turning into the Age of Death.

KING OF SPORTS

Baseball is still the great American sport. Any doubt of that was removed when the placing of world series tickets on sale the other day revealed a demand for them in excess of that of last year. But why?

No game yet developed is so thrilling or so charged with the elements of passion and suspense as major league ball. Football and polo are hard games, in which players win distinction only by extraordinary stamina, skill and fortitude. But baseball is more a matter of hair-trigger technique and the perfect combination of team-work and individual play.

But baseball doesn't owe its place in the sun to itself alone. An army of enthusiastic sports editors and other writing men, some thousands of miles of telegraph wires, unlimited space on the front pages and sports sections of newspapers and scoreboards everywhere have exalted, glorified and popularized the game.

Other sports may win new following and sand-lot baseball may vanish from the picture of amateur athletics, but big league baseball will remain the major sport of the nation as long as the sporting pages treat it as such.

MAN'S BEST FRIEND, BARKS AND ALL

There may be some apartment and suburban dwellers who will hail the barkless dogs now being imported from Africa; but a dog which can not bark somehow chews up all our pet traditions and sentiments. These basenji dogs can emit only a muted growl, but are reputed to be unusually courageous, probably because they are forced to fight where a normal dog might rout an adversary with vocal bluffing.

But who wants a dog that won't or can't bark? The average watchdog, if it came to a showdown with an intruder, would be of futile aid, yet his warning, threatening yelps are usually better protection than iron bars. Imagine a pet dog gliding silently about the house, speechless and unable to welcome his master or his dinner!

Some of us get old and grouchy, 'tis true. If a dog barks at midnight or five o'clock in the morning, we may grumble under our blankets. We perhaps grow apoplectic over a canine serenade, or have churlish thoughts because a neighbor's mutt chases our Persian cat. Yet the dignified baying of a hound and the chatter of an amiable fox terrier belong to the varied class of things we loudly deplore yet cling to at heart. We need them to keep life properly seasoned.

JAPAN'S WAR IS COSTLY

Japan's current war with China is costing the Island Empire plenty exclusive of the expense of maintaining naval and military establishments in the theatre of action.

Reports from the Far East are to the effect that Japan's stocks of cotton and rayon are accumulating rapidly and prices are declining. China in peace-time is Japan's best customer. Large quantities of Japanese goods, including chemicals and dyestuffs, stored in warehouses in China have been destroyed and Japanese business houses in the Celestial Empire have suffered heavy losses. The Japanese cotton and spinning industries have been affected not only by hostilities with China but also by a decline in export trade with other countries.

It is reported unofficially that the Japanese government hopes to effect economic control by voluntary action on the part of business men. The import surplus in August amounted to 53,944,000 yen as compared with an export balance of 34,449,000 yen for August, 1936. For the first eight months of the present year Japanese foreign trade resulted in an import balance of 774,231,000 yen as compared with one of 264,670,000 yen in the corresponding period last year.

Thus Japan is buying increasingly more than she sells, a trend which, in the long run, is economically unhealthful. Whether she will be able to continue maintaining a large army and navy on a war-waging basis is a matter of considerable conjecture. In view of the distance that Mussolini and Hitler have travelled on paper financing, however, one is justified in believing that Japan will continue to blast away at China from land, sea and air for some months yet. In the end, however, her gains may not be sufficient to balance her losses.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

JEALOUSLY CAUSES QUARRELS

If only I could get parents to put themselves in the place of the child suffering from jealousy, I could help them cure many a child of stubbornness, refusal to help about the house, or fighting and quarreling with a brother or sister. Jealousy is more often the cause of bad behavior in children than any other thing I know of. On this subject I have written a chapter in each of three of my books: "The Modern Family", "The Modern Parent" and "The Learner and His Attitude". Also I have written a pamphlet, "When Jim and Jean Are Jealous", to be had at cost of the Child Development Foundation, Chicago, Ill., for 10 cents.

Jealousy is the feeling a child has when he thinks he is not loved and wanted so much as a brother or sister or some other person.

Richard is twelve years old. "Everything I ask him to do for me is answered with a complaint or argument . . . I only ask him . . . such as picking up his clothes and books, perhaps setting the table or wiping the dishes . . . Now he has a younger brother who will willingly work and help me most of the time, but they have got to quarreling most of the time over apparently nothing . . Richard, the elder, thinks that Robert, the younger, should do all the work because he likes to . . . Our home life is being spoiled . . . Richard very well-behaved away from home . . . have tried to show him he isn't living up to his promise in Boy Scouts . . . Pay them for regular home jobs."

Don't Pay For Home Work

Some of the recommendations: Quit paying them for work about the home. Let them know they are a part of the family and must bear a part of its responsibilities. Anyway, the younger easily earns his and the older runs short—another big source of jealousy and hatred. Just because Robert does so well and gets so much praise and affection for it, Richard does so poorly. The successes and approvals of Robert work as failures and condemnations of Richard.

Budget the time of these youngsters so that they will have definite periods of time they can call their own when, except for emergencies, they will not be asked to do anything. Assign a few definite jobs, just a few, to be done every day at the same time. Let Robert and Richard take turns at dishes. See that Robert respects the rights and possessions of Richard. Never compare these boys. Play up Richard's successes more and you and Dad show him more affection. See that he feels more worthy in the family group. Give him some privileges not allowed Robert, such as going to bed later than Robert. Let Dad take Richard out for lunch occasionally and attend a game or movie with him. Robert's turn will come later.

WHAT DO YOU PAY FOR HATE?

You pay so much a month for meat. Your grocery bill is about average. You must figure a certain amount for insurance . . . for medical care . . . for clothes . . . for amusement . . . and for those expenses that always pop up like toadstools after a rain.

You have it all figured out. You don't waste your money. Perhaps you do not waste your time, either. It's budgeted like your money—so many hours for sleep, so many for exercise, so many for recreation, so many for study. Not an idle second anywhere for the devil to get a toenail in and go to work.

Just Folks

By EDGAR A GUEST

THE BOSS AND THE BOY

"What's wrong?" the boss inquired. The boy
Replied: "My task I don't enjoy.
I want a chance to show to you
The sort of work that I can do,
But this is tedious, dull and slow.
You'll never learn how much I know
Nor just how clever I can be
By giving such a job to me.
I have ambition. What I seek
Is not the bottom but the peak."

The boss replied: "Do you suggest
This task's not worthy of your best?
You slight it now because it seems
So distant from your youthful dreams.
What would you say if I should tell
You've never once performed it well?
And had I greater tasks to do
I should not offer them to you.
To larger posts I'd never call
The men who'd failed me in the small."

"But," said the boy, "I cannot see
How such a task can prosper me.
It seems to me a dismal fate
To have to come to work I hate.
I'm telling you I want a chance
To prove myself and to advance,
But I can see no future here."
The boss replied: "Now that is queer!
That's something that I didn't know
When I began three years ago."

And I have known you boys ever since you were babies. On this account, I will make my fee very low—only $300."

The brothers paid the lawyer's bill but went out grumbling to each other. When they were alone, Cephas has remarked to Lemuel: "Say, Lem, it was a mighty big piece o' luck fer us that that lawyer didn't know grandpap."

BE SPARING in your use of cosmetics. Your makeup should be so cleverly used that only the minutest inspection can detect its artificiality, its chief duty being that it compensates for the deficiencies of nature.

Be especially careful about your eye makeup. Nothing gives a woman a more dissipated "hard" appearance than too much mascara or eye shadow, neither of which looks very well in sunlight. Eye makeup should be used in the evening only. And never put mascara on your lower lashes. The best of it will melt and cause a black smudge below your eyes.

Mussolini's First Visit.
Believes Hitler Is Imitator.
Is Scorned By German Beauties.

By LESLIE EICHEL
Central Press Columnist

TODAY'S COLUMN is written by Harry Levin, long a contributor to Central Press and now a dramatizer of news events for the radio in New York. The column is as one writer who studies foreign affairs views the Mussolini visit to Hitler. Here is Mr. Levin's column:

History recalls many an ironfisted dictator who has returned home after a pilgrimage abroad to find upon his return home that his dictatorship had gone with the wind. Fifteen years ago when Benito Mussolini made himself premier of Italy after the Blackshirt march on Rome, he took a page from history and refused to budge beyond the Italian borders.

Within the Roman peninsula, where he held sway, Il Duce felt himself safe, watched over by the sharp, peering eyes of his secret police, the OVRA. Beyond the Italian borders lived anti-Fascists, enemies of Mussolini, prisoners who had escaped from the dread Lipari prison islands, or relatives of political opponents whom the Fascists had killed off, waiting for revenge.

That Il Duce might have used his able diplomatic talents to win Italy many a triumph at the long series of post-war conferences, most observers agree. But when the premiers and the diplomats gathered in Switzerland, Mussolini sat distantly in his Palazzo Venezia in Rome, directing his puppets, trying to expand Italy's glory by remote control. Sometimes it worked well. Frequently it resulted in an Italian setback, but Mussolini refused to budge.

THEN WAR

Then came the Ethiopian war and a harassed weary dictator sat in his Roman palace and defied the world. As the League of Nations voted for sanctions, as England and Italy began to mass warships in the Mediterranean, the chancellories of Europe circulated rumors that Il Duce was on his way out, deposed by rival blackshirts. But Mussolini still maintains his hold on the Italian people—and there is no evidence that any other figure has yet appeared in Italy who could challenge him.

Italy, as every reader knows, conquered Ethiopia and successfully defied the objecting nations. But Mussolini had learned his lesson. It pays to have friends, even doubtful ones. He began to swing back to Germany and Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler.

Observers will tell you that Il Duce dislikes the Nazi leader, believes him a second-rate imitator. When Herr Hitler in 1934 came hat in hand to Venice to seek Italy's friendship, Mussolini met him under the frowning guns of the Italian fleet and minced no words about what "barbarians the Germans were."

That, however, was before Germany had rearmed and successfully defied the remainder of the world. And shrewd Mussolini, looked into his diplomatic crystal ball, and saw he needed a strong friend. England still smarting over its immense defeat in prestige at the hands of Italy, was rearming on a scale unprecedented in modern times. French friendship for Il Duce had turned cold as a left government came to power in Paris.

Then Mussolini sent the doves of peace and friendship off on a trial flight to Germany.

CONGRESS MAY CORRECT

Treasury officials indicate that taxation of investment profits will be one of the principal questions studied in their general tax survey. Representative Celler, Democrat of New York, has made public a letter asking Secretary Morgenthau's opinion of outright appeal of the capital gains and losses section of the income tax law.

The general overhauling of the federal tax structure at the next session of congress has been proposed by President Roosevelt. The treasury in its preparatory study, is giving special attention to two points, the undistributed earnings tax on corporations and the capital gains and losses section of the income tax law.

Representative Celler urges ten points against the capital gains and losses section of the income tax law. They are: 1, it fails to distinguish between capital and income; 2, it gives insufficient allowance for net capital losses; 3, it accentuates business cycles; 4, It deters financing of new enterprises; 5, It impedes the fluidity of capital; 6, It penalizes simplification of corporate structures; 7, It taxes price level fluctuations; 8, It soaks the poor who have to liquidate; 9, It stimulates tax avoidance; 10, It fails to produce much revenue.

Representative Celler's letter to Secretary Morgenthau said: "I do indeed hope you and the officials of your department have now realized the impotency of the capital gains and losses tax as a revenue

TODAY Is The Day

Copyright 1937 Central Press By CLARK KINNAIRD

WEDNESDA Y, SEPT 29

Once Upon Sept. 29ths—Columbus Day will be along in a couple of weeks, which means that all the old arguments over what European discovered America, are being rehearsed.

The discovery will be (or has been) claimed for Chinese, Arabian, Venetian, Welsh, Portuguese, Dutch, Basque, Icelandic, Dane, Irish and Norse explorers or navigators.

The Norse claim is founded of course, upon the travels of Leif Ericson, who is recorded as having landed on the north Atlantic coast on or about Sept. 29, 1000 A. D., and to have spent a number of months exploring the shore country from Nova Scotia to Martha's Vineyard (Massachusetts).

Norse chronicles Ericson came over to investigate stories of a strange new land sighted by Norseman Bjarni Herjulfson when Bjarni was blown off his course to Iceland in 986.

Steering by sun, moon and stars, in boats less than 80 feet long, which they had charted, propelled by a square rigged sail of brightly colored wool and 20 to 30 sets of oars, the Norsemen dared seas for incredible distances. Their boats were speedier than the caravels of Columbus' time, and Ericson could have crossed the Atlantic faster than Columbus. Norsemen regularly sailed from Norway to Iceland in three days, and contemporary Danes from Denmark to England in four.

A hundred years before Columbus was born, John Thordsson, a priest, wrote a 1,700 page manuscript recording travels of Norsemen to Vinland (New England). Probably they penetrated the Great Lakes, too; for Runic inscriptions have been found along upper lake shores.

The similarities in the character, customs and decorative instincts of a race who inhabited Central America, and those of early civilized races across the Atlantic, indicates a connection between the continents much earlier than Leif Ericson's time.

On Other Sept. 29ths: 1518—The man who painted The Last Supper, perhaps the most famous of all religious paintings, was born. Can you remember his name? Even if you answer Tintoretto, you aren't right. H was born Jacopo Robusti. He was known as Tintorello because his father was a dyer.

1758—Horatio Nelson, Britain's greatest naval hero, was born. He couldn't serve in any navy today in the physical condition he was in most of his career—he had only one eye and one arm, and he was subject to violent seasickness.

1806—Zeb M. Pike arrived at a village of the Pawness Republic (Kansas), caused the Spanish flag to be lowered and the Stars and Stripes raised.

Just 87 years and two days before, M. Dutisne, French officer, sent out by the governor of Louisiana, reached the Pawnee country in Kansas, and erecting a wooden cross, took formal possession of the country for the king of France.

1880—First professional baseball park was opened, in New York. Those who paid their way in, saw the first professional umpires in action. Umps had to be better mathematicians in those days. Batters were given first base on eight called balls.

1924—The Prince of Wales arrived in New York and began his American conquest.

10 Years Ago Today—A five-minute tornado killed 87, injured 1500, did $50,000,000 damage in St. Louis.

HOLLYWOOD—Tyrone power philosophizes on an alleged penalty of film fame:

Naval Experts In Agreement

Italian, French And British Naval Officials Discuss Anti-Pirate Patrol

(International News Service)

PARIS, Sept. 29.—Italian, French and British naval experts today reached an agreement on revision of the Nyon accord for the Mediterranean anti-pirate patrol, the ministry of Marine announced.

The new agreement will be signed at six p. m., it was stated.

A communique said:

"The naval delegations of France, Italy and Britain prepared an arrangement for submission to their governments assuring naval commerce against the illicit attacks defined at the Nyon conference. A final session for signature will be held at six p. m."

It was believed the new accord provides for Italian participation, on a basis of equality with Britain and France, in the Mediterranean patrol.

Boy Scouts To Hold Court Of Honor Thursday

Large Attendance Is Expected At Monthly Advancement Court Of Scouts

From the number of applications and Scouts appearing at the board of review meeting held Tuesday evening in the Boy Scout office in the Greer building, a large attendance is expected at the coming session on Thursday evening.

This court of honor for Lawrence County Council will be held in St. Paul's Lutheran church with Dr. R. C. Lutz chairman in charge. The court will begin at eight o'clock sharp on Thursday evening.

Because of the fact that no court was held in August, this court will be one of the largest of the year, with many Scouts seeking advancement in rank and merit badges.

mocracy and communism and demanded that henceforth their attitudes in all future European discussions be regarded as one.

As part of the new friendship it was constantly rumored that Mussolini would visit Germany, to place the last official seal on the newly created friendship. But it seemed, with the passing months, only more talk. Then the Spanish war broke out. Documents were published tending to implicate Italy and Germany. Today the two governments freely acknowledge their part in their aid to Franco.

But, as the war began to draw out, as the democratic nations of the world grew more and more fearful of the consequences of Fascist intervention, Mussolini learned he had let himself in for an adventure whose cost might bring catastrophe to Italy's normally weak economic system.

Hitler, somewhat fearful of permitting Germany's full participation, sent only army technicians and armaments to bolster up Franco. Mussolini began to clamor for the Fuehrer to match Italy's 100,000 troops in Spain with an equal levy from the Reichswehr.

ELABORATE PLANS

It is upon the Spanish war that the entire Mussolini dictatorship may split, as Il Duce knows full well. Thus his decision to visit Germany, to persuade Herr Hitler.

Because Nazi Germany never had played host to such an eminent visitor, before, Nazidom outdid itself. A special series of holidays were set aside throughout Germany to honor Mussolini. And in Berlin it was arranged for Il Duce to speak in German to its 4,500,000 populace in special fields and public broadcast systems. Then there were numerous pageants, state dinners, and the pick of the German army and air force to impress the visitor.

There was one anti-climax. Fuehrer Hitler had ordered that 400 beauties, the pick of Germany's screen and stage, be gathered at the first day's reception, in Munich, in view of Mussolini's appreciation of feminine beauty. But the beauties gathered around Max Schmeling, heavyweight fighter, in top hat and morning coat, instead. Thus do the best-laid plans of mice and men come to naught.

happy and you may wonder why not. Well, go over your budget again to see if you aren't paying too much for something.

You may be paying too much for things you never set down in your neat little books. It's just possible you spend too much of yourself on your HATES—and if you do, all your fine bookkeeping is wasted and your books will never balance .

You pay so much a month on a paid for. But if you pay out criticism or scandal every time you hear a certain name mentioned, you will never get THAT expenditure finished. You will always be paying interest on it and you will never get the principal reduced.

I've heard many talk about having their noses eternally on the grindstone of work, but that stone cannot compare with the stone of hate that wears away a heart to nothingness.

All of us have in ourselves something of that Rip Van Winkle who said, as he raised his glass, "I won't count this one."

"If we think of our little hates at all, we say, "I won't count this one," and we believe it.

But everything does count. Every use we make of our hands or our tongue or our mind COUNTS and not all the great powers of the universe can keep it from counting. If we spend too much on HATES, on little criticisms of people we know, on fierce abuse of individuals we envy or dislike, it will come out of our only real income ,our happiness.

We lose that much and never get it back again.

YOU CAN THROW CARDS IN HIS FACE ONCE TOO OFTEN

WHEN you have those awful cramps; when your nerves are all on edge—don't take it out on the man you love.

Your husband can't possibly know how you feel for the simple reason that he is a man.

A three-quarter wife may be no wife at all if she nags her husband seven days out of every month.

For three generations one woman has told another how to go "smiling through" with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It helps Nature tone up the system, thus lessening the discomforts from the functional disorders which women must endure in the three ordeals of life: 1. Turning from girlhood to womanhood. 2. Preparing for motherhood. 3. Approaching "middle age."

Don't be a three-quarter wife, take LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND and Go "Smiling Through."

I have consulted scores of experts, manufacturers, merchants and other taxpayers. There seems to be universal condemnation. Officials high in your department and in other branches of the administration feel the time has come at least to revalue and regauge the efficacy of this form of tax. Your judgment is invaluable. I do hope your conclusions point to repeal."

Representative Celler is doing a great service to the nation in forcing this question to the front for immediate consideration because investments and jobs depend upon its sound solution.

For Red-Haired Girl

This romantic evening gown of brown net sprinkled with glittering gold sequins was selected by Bradshaw Crandell, artist, as the perfect dress for the model he painted for an October magazine. He recommends it for all girls with red-gold hair and brown eyes. It has a dropped shoulder line, slender waist, fitted bodice and sweeping skirt—all highlights of the winter mode. With it are worn gold slippers and a small gold bird in the hair.

Doctor Profits By Heart Throbs

New York Physician Asserts Most Of Night Calls Could Be Relieved By Soda

PIES BETTER EATEN IN HAND

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—A doctor whose practise is confined largely to a fashionable stretch of the upper East Side tells me 75 per cent of his calls late at night are to attend those frightened by sudden attacks of palpitation of the heart. Always they think it's the end.

O. O. McIntyre

No trifling complaint induces such terror. They too much or drink too much and awaken suddenly with their hearts in flibber jibbets. The physician says he could answer nearly all such calls carrying only a vial of bi-carbonate of soda.

In dangerous heart trouble, he says, there may be palpitation, but not often, and there is invariably agonizing pain. As his fee is $25 for night calls, palpitation has proved highly profitable. There are also many other night calls entirely unnecessary.

Fear is greatest between the hours of 3 and 5 a. m. At this period the army of hypochondriacs go into their dance and want the doctor to tell them in bedside whispers that their fears are foolish and childish. And they will pay for such solace.

Observation: All pies should be eaten by hand. There is no pies that does not taste better handled this way. Especially is this true of cold pumpkin.

Bill Terry, the Giants' manager, is one of the most pronounced haters of newspaper reporters in general and baseball writers in particular. At one time he was chummy with several, but when they found it necessary to be critical he couldn't take it and grew aloof and the dislike grew into general hatred. He speaks only to a few and then with curt nod, yet he admits that since the breach he found them unfailingly fair when he got into hot water—and he frequently does.

It's a venerable trick for those in the spotlight to simulate a grudge against newspapermen and pronounce them anathema—inspired by secret hope that in a public flaying they will lean backward to give the accusers a break. Ziegfeld used to cut such a caper with critics on eve of an expensive opening, sending vituperous telegrams and threatening to bar them from the theatre. Lesser managers often followed his example. But it gets nowhere. Newspapermen, worthy of the name, are trained to be fair and will never exploit personal grievances in reports. So such gestures are lost motion.

Percy Hammond was baited more than the average theatrical critic, both in New York and Chicago. There were not many producers who had not at one time or other threatened to get his scalp. Yet eventually they all became his friends and at his passing not one held a grudge. But their like or dislike never influenced his critiques. Nor ruffled him the slightest.

When Noel Coward came sailing rather unexpectedly up the bay the other week, the visit was purely sentimental. He was arriving to be best man at the marriage of his manager, Jack Wilson. Between Wilson and Coward exists an odd companionship of opposites. Wilson, was a Wall Street customer's man with no interest in the stage when he met Coward. After the meeting he quit the financial district to manage Coward's business affairs and become his best friend. Coward left here almost a year ago with health shattered from overwork, but the rest put him in the pink again. On his boat coming over were two actresses linked with Coward in his first New York success—Gertrude Lawrence and Beatrice Lillie. And their contribution to the ship's concert was something of an all high in impromptu idiocies.

In the case of the commonwealth against C. L. Sipe in which he was acquitted of violating the Pure Food Act, and the costs placed on Inspector H. H. Davis, District Attorney Ailey made a motion to strike off the costs. Judge W. Walter Braham took the motion under consideration. It was claimed that Sipe had sold cherry pies without the coloring matter being marked on the wrappers. The jury said "not guilty."

County Commissioners Floyd Cotton and George Bolinger have gone to the county commissioners' convention at Williamsport, Pa., leaving County Commissioner Joseph Hannon on guard at the court house. The convention is expected to spend considerable time worrying over the permanent registration law. It may make some recommendation relative to election law which permits the indiscriminate writing in of names on ballots. If it does this, it will not have convened in vain.

Registration Clerk Thomas Edmunds is losing weight worrying over the failure of so many rural residents to come in and sign their names on the dotted line. Last week only 52 registered out of a possible 8,000. Next Monday is the last day to register to be eligible to vote at the November election. Maybe if the politicians would go out and help the farmers get their corn cut they would have time to get in and register.

County Controller Frank Hill is attending a state convention of county controllers at Reading, Pa. The convention is expected to control everything but the appetites of the delegates when the banquet is held.

Architect H. M. Wirsing has sent plans of the proposed changes in the court house to provide a room for the county commissioners to Harrisburg for approval. These plans have already been approved by a local grand jury and by the court. The plans for other proposed improvements, including an addition to the south wing of the court house have not yet been approved by the court. When a hearing was held recently some changes were suggested. It may be that when final action is taken on the plans that recommendations for changes will be made. If these apply only to the arrangements of the rooms it is possible that it will not be necessary to present them to another grand jury, but if changes which mean decided alterations and increased expense are suggested, it may be necessary to lay the plans before another grand jury.

Harrison Ippolito, of Wampum, has filed an application at the prothonotary's office for a divorce from his wife, Goldie V. Ippolito, of the Fisher Block. The couple were married in April, 1928, in Beaver. The application is made on the grounds of adultery.

Sheriff Edward D. Pritchard reports that there are at present forty prisoners in the county jail. There are 39 men and one woman, which suggests that men are more prone to violate the laws than women, or else they are easier caught.

Charges Irene Was Extravagant

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Sept. 29.—Irene Castle McLaughlin, the former dancer whose name was once an American by-word, was charged with "needless and reckless" extravagance in an answer to her divorce complaint, filed by Col. Frederic McLaughlin, Tuesday afternoon.

The Chicago sportsman, fighting Irene's divorce attempt with a sweeping denial of her charges against him, conceded that their living expenses were about $35,000 [illegible] but denied his [illegible] was in excess of this.

He denied the famous dancer, now 44 but still a beauty, had contributed $150,000 to their living expenses since her marriage, and said that "by her extravagances she has forced the defendant to spend large amounts of his capital and to borrow money."

Scores Of Pictures Of Wanted Persons Posted Before Police

"Arrest on sight!"
"Use Caution; Dangerous!"
"Wire collect if Located."
"Reward for arrest, conviction."

These are a few of the captions on hundreds of Police Bulletins posted on Chief of detective Ray Showalter's Bulletin Board of "Wanted and Missing" persons, immediately outside the detective bureau, second floor, city building annex. The bulletins are from all sections of the nation, north, east, south and west and crimes ranging from murder to incorrigibility are listed on the bulletins.

The bulletins have been posted on a huge board in order that every police officer, upon reporting for duty, either at 8 a. m., 4 p. m., or midnight, may make a mental photograph of the man or woman wanted for crime or the man, woman, son or daughter, reported missing from home. Some of the bulletins concern bank robbers, confidence men, drug fiends, jewel thieves and others tell pitiful stories of a daughter or son having left their homes and whom it is feared by parents have fallen by the wayside.

Whenever arrests of wanted persons are made it is no difficulty to establish their identity providing they ever have been arrested and their fingerprints have been taken. If the prints coincide with those on the bulletins the apprehended persons readily, as a rule, confess their identity and return to the scene of their crimes. However, it is more difficult to establish identifications when no fingerprints have been taken.

Some may believe that the photographs of wanted persons show people of the plug-ugly type, or persons with hardened features and rough attire. However, such is not the case. In most cases the most desperate of the bank robbers, escaped slayers and confidence men are immaculately attired and outwardly, to the average person, would not be suspected of being a hardened criminal. Not all the photographs are of the police type which show up every point. Some of them are photographs taken before the people wanted delved into crime. In most cases they were obtained from their own relatives.

The Bulletin of "Wanted and Missing" persons is probably a dozen feet long and six feet deep. As soon as the department of justice or some other police agency records an apprehension the photograph and record of such a person is removed from the board and usually it is only until mail time that the photograph and record of some person occupies its place because crime in the United States, it is said costs citizens billions of dollars.

Record of the police motor vehicles operations is kept daily as was evidenced when Mayor Charles E. McGrath explained recently when he recommended the purchase of two new cars. And it might be said that relative to the operation of police cars they seldom figure in an accident which is quite strange in view of the fact that they travel thousands of miles in each month, through all sorts of weather and over all kinds of road. It is the duty of the driver of a police car to drive the car to, or as near a point, as police service is required. The department boasts of some excellent operators.

Glass Resists Lead Weights

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH — Lead weights that bounce off glass like rubber balls are among the wonders of Pittsburgh's famed Mellon Institute.

In the glass exhibit at the Institute an 11-pound weight falls seven feet, strikes the glass and bounces harmlessly away. The glass is specially tempered and will hold a man's weight.

All sorts of glass abound in the Institute.

There's heat-withstanding glass, sound-reducing glass, bullet-proof glass, glass to keep off frost, and document glass to prevent important papers from fading.

Reducing the weight of a ship by thousands of pounds is "battleship" glass.

And, say the Mellon Institute research experts, a liveable glass house isn't so far in the offing.

Original Beauty Of Cascade Park Will Again Be Revealed

Recent announcement of the tearing down of the gorge ride carries us back to the not-so-very long ago. Then was the time when men donned their highest celluloid collar and ankle choking pants, women their longest skirts and widest brimmed hats, to fare forth to Cascade Park. They arrived on an open trolley car, carried a picnic basket and their wildest carryings on consisted of scrambling around the various rocks. Taking care not to display too much of her ankle, Mi-Lady might consent to being paddled around in a canoe. But chief of the attractions lay in what had been there for a long time, the beauty of the park itself. There were trees, rocks and water, none to ask the price of admission.

Then came a period when scenic attractions were forgotten in a desire to ride the dizziest gadget in the speediest manner. Turnstiles whirled in an era of dips, dives and dodgem's. The trees, rocks and water were still there, but lay concealed somewhere behind the crazy house or the tumblebug. It cost you ten cents to be scared.

Nature, however, can provide her own ways of coming into her own. While depression and other interests had applied a sort of brake that was to shut down much that had grown up in the maddest years, nature herself brought about the destruction of the last and greatest of the thrill makers. A tiny bug, the termite, was to infest and lay low the once proud gorge.

Although razing is not completed as yet, one will next summer see things that they haven't stopped to notice for a long time. Unheralded things such as the magnificence of the rock structure or the beauty of the water. And time nor termites can never take this away.

RAILROAD AGENTS HERE

Jack Scott, general agent, Wabash railroad; Charles Ryan, general agent, Illinois Central; John Rutledge, general agent, Southern railroad, and James J. Riley, general agent of the Grand Trunk railroad, all with offices at Pittsburgh, were here on business yesterday and also attended proclivities at the New Castle Field club.

WASHINGTON AT A GLANCE

Australia Is Seeking Navy

British Dominion Fears Mother Country Cannot Furnish Adequate Assistance

ISLAND FEARS JAP INVASION

Central Press
Washington Bureau
602 Times-Herald Bldg.

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29.—Australia has developed the armanent complex now. Dispatches are beginning to speak of it. Navy and state department folk have been taking note of it for some time.

The Australians have had a few cruisers dating back for a considerable number of years, but not a fighting fleet of much consequence. Today it appears that they have decided they need a really formidable naval establishment (as formidable, anyway, as their rather skimpy population of about 7,000,000 is capable of creating) and need it in a hurry, too.

AUSTRALIA FEARS JAPAN

Japan, of course, is the power of which the people of the island-continent are suspicious.

Even in the pre-war era, when Britain and Nippon were on very friendly diplomatic terms (bound together by a seemingly ironclad treaty, which since has lapsed), Australians greatly disliked the then relationship between London and Tokio.

Australia obviously is and has been a continent or an island (call it which you will) so situated and so equipped by nature as to tempt the Japanese.

It is huge in size. Its climate is favorable to Japanese habitation. It is thinly settled. A sizable part of it is pretty barren. Still, another sizable part of it is extremely rich. It easily could accommodate Japan's overflow. So, for that matter, can Manchukuo, but Manchukuo is too northerly for extensive Japanese colonization. China proper is big enough but already is populated up to, and above, the limit—and Japan scarcely can make sufficient vacancies for its own human surplus by killing off millions of Chinese.

VISIONED AS A THREAT

Australia, in short, has been more bitterly anti-Japanese than has our own Pacific coast and westerly Canada, and for at least as many years.

California, Washington and Oregon, to be sure, never seriously have regarded Nippon as a military menace. They simply have thought of Japanese (and other Oriental) immigrants as economically undesirable. Ditto western Canada.

Australians, however, have spoken of them as possible invaders under arms, in an attempt at a grab.

MAY HAVE TO DEFEND SELVES

True, they have reckoned heretofore that the Japanese never would deem it safe to come to a show-down with the British navy.

At present they are not so confident.

In the event of an international free-for-all it is evident that Britain's sea strength will be plentifully preoccupied with hostilities in the Mediterranean and elsewhere in the Occident; the island-continentals may have to defend themselves, at least for a while, in their particular corner of the world.

They cast longing eyes, indeed, in the direction of the United States.

But Uncle Sam's neutrality attitude worries them. He is getting out of the Philippines.

Briefly, Australia has the jitters.

It all goes to show that the world is in a heck of a state, with an out-of-the-way part of it, like Australia, in a state of alarm.

A DISARMAMENT "PLAN"

I have heard of only one unquestionably practical international disarmament suggestion.

It was by Lord Dewar, the British whiskey man.

"To achieve disarmament," said his lordship, "have warships built by popular subscription."

That plan certainly would work. But get it adopted!

EDENBURG

Mrs. Ellsworth Lancaster ih quite sick at her home.

Mrs. Clint Emerick of Beaver Falls called on her sister, Mrs. Leroy Parish, Sunday evening.

Mrs. Mary Morrow, Mr. and Mrs. Winton Ramsey called on the former's nieces, Mrs. Percy Knight and Mrs. Wilbert Frazier at Rose Point and were dinner guests of Mrs. Lewis Robison on the East Brook road Sunday afternoon and evening.

Lawrence County Retains Place In Front Line

Lawrence county will again be classed with the "Front Line" counties of the state for its constructive program of activitie during the year closing with the 75th annual (Diamond Jubilee) convention to be held at Hershey, Pa., October 13, 14 and 15, as the state association has just notified the county association to forward its banner to have the percentage painted thereon. Last year Lawrence county's percentage was 94., and it will not be known until the presentation is made to the local delegation at Hershey, what this year's figure will be, but it is anticipated that it will be fully as high as that of last year.

Sunday schools are being urged to send at least one automobile of delegates to the state convention, as the amount of inspiration and Christian education that will be received will make it a good investment.

Those wishing credential cards may call New Castle, 351 or 913-M, or if credentials are not received before leaving for convention, same may be obtained after arrival in Hershey. Every one attending will be a regular credited delegate and will be permitted to take part in all activities.

'Ice Bracelet' Invented By Wife To Aid Invalid Husband In Hot Weather

(International News Service)

TULSA, Okla.—Does Summer's heat "get you down?" Do you swelter as the mercury soars? Do you feel you cannot afford air conditioning for your home?

If the answer to those questions is "yes," consider the way Mrs. T. E. Wagoner solved those problems for her invalid husband with an "ice bracelet."

Wagoner suffered a paralytic stroke from the heat several years ago and since has suffered terribly every Summer.

Mrs. Wagoner became desperate in her attempts to alleviate her husband's suffering. Ice bags kept on him constantly proved unsatisfactory.

Invents Own Device

Remembering that when you dip your wrists in cold water the blood stream becomes cooled, she decided to experiment with an ice bag for his wrist. She found that no manufacturer made the article so she set about it herself. The result was a contraption fastened to an ordinary watch bracelet. The top is a flashlight handle top which unscrews. The lower part is made of copper and the entire gadget sprayed with insulation paint.

In operation, the top is unscrewed and an ice cube or two inserted. Immediately the blood stream temperature starts lowering. One filling lasts about 45 minutes and keeps the entire body cool. Dry ice, Mrs. Wagoner found, lasted longer but became so cold it would blister the flesh.

"That bracelet saved my life last Summer," Wagoner commented.

Dust Storms Blamed For Influenza Waves

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—Dr. William Duncan McNary, of Milwaukee, told the Eastern Osteopathic Association today that the dust storms of the Midde West were largely responsible for influenza epidemics.

The dust particles blown to all parts of the country provide transportation for billions of influenza germs, he said. Rockefeller Foundation studies show, he added, that there is more germ-laden dust in the atmosphere of the United States now than at any time in 31 years.

"Under the microscope," he said, "the particles of dirt which are picked up to form a dust storm show rough surfaces and jagged edges, which form a convenient lodging place for germs."

PERFECT FIGURE IS VALUED AT $250 BY PARIS JUDGES

(International News Service)

PARIS—A perfect figure in Paris is worth $250, no more, no less.

At least that is what a judge here awarded Mademoiselle Andree Leguen when she sued for five times that figure as a result of an automobile accident.

Mademoiselle Leguen is a mannequin. She claimed that after the accident she was no longer the perfect model for a certain size and moreover she had a mark on her thigh.

Maitre Pointier representing the insurance company argued that it was almost impossible to assess damages in a matter which concerned the line of the female figure. And when Mademoiselle Leguen mentioned the mark on the thigh he replied:

"Hardly worth mentioning considering the damage is in such an intimate place."

"Not at all," replied Maitre Loewell, representing the mannequin, "as a result my client has had to give up an important branch of her profession—the showing of bathing costumes."

The wise old judges became interested, asked to see the "mark" and then gave the young lady $250.

FLAT TIRES CAUSE GREATEST TROUBLE TO AUTO DRIVERS

(International News Service)

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind.—Flat tires, numbering 8,500,000, caused most trouble to American motorists last year, according to statistics made public by Todd Stoops, secretary-manager of the Hoosier Motor club.

He said the reason was because the drivers continue to operate with tires on which the rubber is worn past the danger point.

There were approximately 4,000,000 complete breakdowns of engines and some 3,258,000 cases of battery failure, he added.

181,262 Cars Frozen

The number of cars frozen up last year was 181,262, a sharp drop over the 540,000 reported in 1935.

Other headaches for motorists included 406,000 gas line complaints, 4,000,000 cases of ignition trouble, including systems drowned out in rainy weather, and 1,460 instances of starter trouble.

"Although there is an average of about one filling station for every mile of surfaced highway, approximately 1,500,000 motorists ran out of gasoline last year, an increase of 50 percent over 1935," Stoop said.

TAKES OWN LIFE WHEN UNABLE TO PLAY BIG DRUM

(International News Service)

LONDON — Thirty-six-year-old Frank Taylor, stalwart Royal Marine, pounded the big drum in the crack marine band for ten years.

The big drum was his all. He even sat up into the night to practise new effects.

Taylor was taken ill with abdominal trouble and had to undergo two operations.

When he returned to the band he couldn't carry his beloved drum any more—it was too heavy. They made him play the clarinet and flute instead.

It broke his heart. For weeks he pined. Then he hanged himself in the band room, within sight of his big drum.

Large Allotment Of Pheasants For Lawrence County

Hunters Should Have Bountiful Supply Of Game

Several Thousand Birds From Jordan Farm Released In County This Year

MANY OF PHEASANTS MATURE BREEDERS

Hunters who tramp the fields of Lawrence county in search of game this fall should reap the benefits of the heaviest spring re-stocking of mature breeder pheasants ever attempted in this county.

Beginning with the liberation of 500 mature ringneck pheasant breeders in March and April, ringneck pheasant and pheasant egg distribution from the great Jordan State Game farm at Harlansburg has continued in Lawrence county throughout the spring and summer, ending with the recent liberation of 300 birds from this year's crop at ten weeks old.

2,450 Birds, 1,000 Eggs

Jordan Farm has this year furnished Lawrence county with 1,350 ringneck pheasants ready for liberation; 1,000 day-old chicks, and 1,000 eggs.

As a result of the game commission's efforts to increase game in this county the local hunters should enjoy a bountiful supply of real wild game birds this coming season.

Release of the over half thousand mature breeder pheasants in the spring was followed up with releases of hen pheasants during the laying season, the supplying of eggs to sportsmen and farmers for hatching and distribution of day-old pheasant chicks to sportsmen's organizations for raising and releasing. The law requires that all birds raised from eggs or chicks supplied by the state game farms be released on lands which are open to the properly licensed law-abiding hunters, because the propation, purchase and protection of game in Pennsylvania are all financed by the sportsmen through the purchase of hunting licenses.

Many Males Released

Because the law permits the shooting of only the male ringneck pheasant one of the greatest obstacles to a desirable number of pheasants being reared in the wild has, in former years, been the insufficient number of male birds left over for breeding purposes after the shooting season. To overcome this, large wire covered holding pens have been constructed at the state game farms to permit holding most of the male birds produced on the farms over winter, from where they are released, full winged, well fed and in the best possible condition just prior to the breeding season each spring; 490 such fully matured male ringneck breeders from the Jordan State Game farm were liberated in Lawrence county in March and April, 1937, resulting in more young pheasants being hatched and reared in the wild this year than ever before.

Breeder Hens Liberated

Because of the failure of some of the commercial breeders to fill their contracts with the game commission for part of the 500 yearling ringneck hens intended for 1937 spring liberation in Lawrence county sixty mature yearling ringneck hens were supplied by the Jordan farm for liberation in April and 500 two-year-old breeder hens, also from the Jordan State Game farm, were liberated throughout the county by Game Protector Frank Coen early in June. That these hens were near the peak of production at that time was established by the report of Mr. Coen that in a number of the boxes of five hens each, he found that from one to four eggs had been laid during the brief period from the time he assisted in boxing the birds at the game farm until their release in the wild, and it is believed that many of these hens kept on laying and hatched and raised young in the wild. While it is not possible to keep accurate record of very many birds after releasing them, it is definitely known that several of the last birds moved from the farm laying pens to brush land were seen with young birds six weeks later. Ringnecks reach maturity and full color at about sixteen weeks old and, while these late hatched birds will not be full color so the male may be distinguished for shooting at the opening of the season this fall, they should furnish some shooting later in the season and some good breeders in the wild next spring.

Early in September 300 of the Jordan farm's 1937 crop of pheasants were liberated in the county, at 10 weeks old, bringing the total number of pheasants ready for liberation furnished this county by the Jordan farm this year to 1,350.

In addition to the birds liberated direct from the farm 1,000 ringneck pheasant eggs were distributed among sportsmen and farmers in Lawrence county during May and 1,100 day-old pheasant chicks were distributed among sportsmen for raising in brooders, during the month of June and early July.

Game produced on the state game farms is distributed only in cooperation with the Division of Game Research and Distribution, the game farm management or the Division of Propagation and game farms having no authority concerning distribution.

Future Game Supply

In successful game conservation the future, as well as the present supply must be considered. Continuing the game commission's new policy of spring restocking, about 7,000 of the male ringneck pheasants raised on the Jordan farm this year are to be held over winter in the farm's ten large wire covered holding fields which cover a total ground area of 540,000 square feet or approximately twelve and one-half acres, with wire netting top seven feet high, which allows plenty of room for exercise and development of strong legs and wings with which to escape predators, and travel over long distances in search of food, cover and suitable mates when released, after good winter feeding, just prior to the breeding season next spring. This plan of restocking which was instituted by the game commission in 1936 and increased in 1937 has met with the most enthusiastic approval of the sportsmen and shows evidence of producing the best results of any method of game bird restocking ever attempted in Pennsylvania.

New Hunting Regulations

Do not forget that the new game laws prohibit shooting before 9 a. m. on the first day of the season, and before 7 a. m. on any day or after 5 p. m. on any day, or shooting at game in a public road, or any road open to the public. Small game hunting parties are limited to not more than five persons, and more than three shells must not be carried in a repeating shotgun.

Ground hogs or woodchucks are now classed as game and may not be killed from September 15 until November 1.

Carrying of firearms in automobiles is also regulated by law. When you purchase your hunting license be sure you receive a copy of the "Game News" October issue, a copy of which is to be given with every hunting license. Much valuable information concerning the new game laws are printed in this issue.

Prices In Window Banned For Barbers

New Law Prohibits Displayal Of Price Lists On Outside Of Shops

Local barbers will no longer be permitted to display a price list on the outside of their shops, according to announcement made in Harrisburg by Emanuel F. Schifano, chief of the bureau of professional licensing in the department of public instruction.

A new law, instituted Sept. 1, requires all window signs bearing prices to be removed. They may, however, be posted inside the shop in such a way as not be visible from the outside, it is stated.

Penalty for violators will be the suspension or removal of licenses, the announcement says.

Demands C. I. O. Be Expelled From A. F. Of L. At Once

(International News Service)

DENVER, Sept. 29—"Big Bill" (W. D.) Hutcheson breezed into the American Federation of Labor Building Trades Convention today with his 3,000 carpenter union votes and bluntly declared he wants the John L. Lewis CIO unions formally expelled from the A. F. of L.

This attitude on the part of Hutcheson was virtual assurance that the A. F. of L. will break all ties with the 10 CIO unions that were simply suspended last year.

"If a resolution of expulsion is introduced, the carpenters 3,000 votes will be behind it," Hutcheson said.

PATROLMAN IN OHIO IS SLAIN

John Hennessey reported, behind the left ear and through the left cheek. He apparently returned the gunmen's fire before dying, because police found a revolver in his hand, with one chamber empty.

Hennessey said Marker apparently was slain in an attempted holdup, but a large sum of money was found in Marker's pocket. Hennessey said he did not know how much cash Marker was carrying.

Members Of Gang

Hennessey said it was possible the holdup slayers were the same men who killed Patrolman Conn. Other officers believed the men may have been members of the dangerous Al Brady gang.

"It's possible Conn's slayers might be heading for Indiana and held up Marker to get enough money to make good their escape," Hennessey said.

Meanwhile, a man hunt was in progress for the brutal killers of the young highway officer, whose body, shot eight times, was found yesterday in a Harrison county roadside ditch near Freeport.

Escaped Prisoners

There was a possibility the slayers of Conn and Marker were the three criminals who escaped last Wednesday from the Cuyahoga county jail in Cleveland by forcing their way out at the point of guns. The trio struck and killed a woman with the auto in which they escaped.

Description of one of the men Murray saw running from the Troy filling station tallied with the description the highway patrol has of Charles Bird, 25, one of the three Cleveland criminals, who were facing possible death penalties for kidnaping in connection with a $20,000 Cleveland bank holdup.

AUTO CRASH NEAR FARRELL IS FATAL TO RALPH J. WHITE

states that the bus, with James Williamson, 21, of 1221 Liverpool street, Pittsburgh, at the wheel, had gathered considerable momentum on the hill leading from Farrell down to Bobby's Corners, and when the driver, reported new to the route, came upon the stop sign at the intersection unexpectedly he jammed on his brakes but was unable to stop in time to avoid hitting the New Castle machine.

The Austin whirled around several times and then turned over. White and the Cunningham boy were found underneath the machine and the other boys had been hurled out of the wreckage ten feet away.

White Is Dead

A Sharon ambulance was summoned but by the time White was admitted to Buhl hospital he was dead, probably as the result of chest injuries. The boys were taken to the hospital in the automobiles of passersby. Examination showed no serious injuries and they were released last night. The Cunningham boy especially, and the others, are suffering from shock.

It was Williamson's initial trip as driver of the Erie to Pittsburgh bus, police were told, and he had with him as his guide, Howard F. Travis, 25, of 1048 Lessing street, Pittsburgh.

After the stories of the men were heard the authorities released the driver on his own recognizance. Charges, it was said, may be preferred.

Last evening the body of young White was brought to the Jos. B. Leyde mortuary in New Castle.

The young man leaves his wife, the former Miss Julia Sidley, two little daughters, Barbara and Beverly, under school age, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph J. White of Sheridan avenue. He, his wife and children, resided at the Pine street home of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Sidley.

His sister, Mrs. James Beam, of New Castle, and his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Unangst, of Cochranton, Pa., also survive. One sister, Helen, preceded him in death.

Operated Gas Station

Mr. White had been in charge of the Atlantic gasoline station on West Grant street at the corner of Beaver. He had always resided in New Castle, was educated in the public schools and high school here, and was one of the best known young men in the city, universally liked.

He was popular with the boys who lived in the vicinity of his gasoline station and they were intrigued with the little Austin he had bought recently in order to save the wear on a new large car. Yesterday afternoon, when he was ready to drive to Sharon to deliver some biscuits and cake for a trucking firm, as had been his habit, he allowed the three young boys to go along for the ride.

Young Bob Cunningham is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Cunningham. His father is a well known local florist. The Confer boy's parents are Mr. and Mrs. William A. Confer, and the Rogan boy's, Mr. and Mrs. Frank D. Rogan. With the exception of a few cuts and bruises the youngsters escaped injury.

Ralph White was born in New Castle on August 27, 1911, son of Ralph J. and Gertrude White. He was a member of the Second United Presbyterian church and the McGeorge Bible class.

The body has been removed to the home of his parents, 420 Sheridan avenue, and will remain there until time of the funeral services.

Services will take place Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the Second U. P. church with the new pastor, Rev. J. Calvin Rose, in charge. Interment will be made in Oak Park cemetery.

CALL ORGANIZATION MEETING THURSDAY

For the purpose of organizing the retail clerks of the city a meeting will be held in the Trades and Labor Assembly hall on Thursday night at which Louis Comba, organizer for the Retail Clerks International Protective association, will speak.

Likeness Of Washington On Sheet Of Black Plate Made At Local Plant

Amazing close in its resemblance to a picture of George Washington, a "freak" portrait of Washington, on a sheet of black plate is on display in the window of The News today.

Adding interest to the likeness, which is not the work of any human being, but a peculiar marking in the black plate, is the fact that the plate was discovered by an employe of the assording room on September 17, which was Constitution Day.

Black plate usually has shadings of color on it, ranging from a deep blue tint around the edge to black in the center of the plate. Sometimes weird lines are found on the plate, the result of some action in the pickling vats or air striking the plate when it is hot.

This sheet was going through the assorting room along with thousands of others when the assorter noticed the likeness to Washington etched upon it. There is even an outline of the eye and mouth, with the nose, chin and forehead definitely marked.

Mysticists might read into the plate some significance as to the tie between George Washington, the constitution and the present day attacks on the constitution.

The black plate will be in the window of The News for a few days where it can be seen.

Michigan Looking For Winning Team

Believe Kippke-Anderson Combination Can Produce What Michigan Wants

Have Sprinkling Of Veterans On Team, Good Replacements Up From Reserve Squad

By LEO FISCHER
International News Service Sports Writer

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Sept. 29—Along about 6 p.m. Saturday night we'll be able to tell you definitely whether or not Michigan is going to move back into a place in the sun, so far as Big Ten football is concerned. It will be approximately that hour when the final returns are in for the contest with Michigan State—and if the Wolverines win, or even come close to winning, then look out. They're going to town!

After three lean years, it appears as though they're coming up with something once more around this campus, but the presence of so many new men leaves a big question mark which can't be answered until they have had a baptism of big-league competition.

May Have Team

Even Coach Harry Kipke is willing to admit, although guardedly, that he thinks he's "got something there"—out on the field where his squad is being put through its paces. The "something" consists of a good line almost three deep, a veteran backfield with several spectacular sophomores and a new spirit on the squad and around the campus.

It's going to be hard recognizing the 1937 Michigan team, even though only three regulars have been lost from last year's squad. Captain Joe Rinaldi, center; Art Valpey, Dan Smick and Elmer Gedeon at the ends and Don Siegel at tackle are about the only 1936 letter-winning linemen who are still rated as first-stringers. The probable first backfield, even with 8 letter-winners available, doesn't present a single familiar face.

Line Renovated

The line has been given a thorough renovation by Hunk Anderson, who in his first season here as line coach will come up with one of the best forward walls in the Big Ten.

At the ends he has Valpey, Smick and Gedeon, with a reserve of last season, John Nicholson, also slated for action. All are well over six feet tall, weigh around 200 and are likely to shine brilliantly both an offense and defense.

Siegel, 6 feet 4 inches tall and weighing 205, is a fixture at one tackle. The other will probably be held down by William Smith a sophomore from Brooks Field, Tenn., or Roland Sairela, from Gallagher, W. Va., both of whom are built along the same lines. Another likely tackle candidate is Kenneth Steen, sophomore from Detroit, who is 6 feet 2 and weighs 196.

Veteran Guards

Ralph Heikkinen and Fred Olds, reserves last year, have been elevated to regular berths at guard, ahead of the five letter-winners available. Heikkinen, a Finlander from the upper peninsula, weighs 190. Olds, from East Lansing, scales about 192. Veterans George Marzonie and Ernie Pederson, who played pretty good ball at guard last year, are their chief replacements.

Captain Rainaldi is one of the most capable centers in the Big Ten. He succeeds Mat Pattenelli, who lives next door to him in Elkhart, Ind., as leader of the team.

Boyd Directs Gym Classes At Westminster

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Sept. 29.—All men's gym classes at Westminster College this year will blossom out in new gym suits, under the tutelage of Dave Boyd, former Union high coach, New Castle, new instructor of physical education at the Titan institution. The new gear will be white basketball trunks and jerseys with "Westminster" emblazoned across the fronts in an arch.

Under the present set-up, Mr. Boyd intends to inaugurate two touch-football loops. One league will consist of representative teams from the four classes, while the other will be made up of the usual fraternity and non-fraternity teams. In this way, all students will be able to participate in intramural games.

Physical education at the college is divided into three periods a week, one of gym, one of swimming and one of hygiene. No cuts are allowed, and make-up classes are held in the afternoons. In connection with swimming, each student must be able to swim two lengths of the pool before receiving gym credit. Special classes have been arranged for non-swimmers and more advanced swimmers, the latter group working towards the Senior Red Cross examiner's certificate.

Ellwood Player Shows Up Well On Salem Team

SALEM, Sept. 29.—Salem College's Tigers licked decisively by a powerful Marshall College eleven last Saturday in a non-conference tilt, settled down to work today for their first conference game of the year with Morris Harvey here Friday afternoon.

Ed Davis' Salem squad is not dispirited over its loss Saturday to Marshall, who should go far this year, and after battling gamely last Saturday, plans to be on the rebound Friday against the Golden Eagles.

Davis and his assistant, Sam Kistler, plan extensive drilling this week both on offensive and defensive play, planning to work at length on the offensive.

The play of Joe Pishioneri, plebe center of Ellwood City, Pa., was heartening. He made several open field tackles while going down under punts, and in general turned in a steady game.

John Cabas Is On Injured List

Johnnie Cabas, former New Castle High quarterback, and now on the Mount Union varsity football team, suffered a broken collar-bone in the opening game with Adrian, Michigan and will be out for the balance of the year, it is believed.

Coaches Using New System For Drills With Titan Squad

Washabaugh And Kelleher Develop New Method In Training Grid Team

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Sept. 29.—Underneath the driving, relentless spirit developed by the 1937 edition of the Westminster College football squad lies the perfect psychology of two makers-of-men, Coaches Washabaugh and Dick Kelleher.

The men who wear the Blue and White of the Titans are undergoing a new coaching experience. Washabaugh and Kelleher strive for a perfection in technique based on a love of football and a sense of good fun. No long sessions in the Titan camp; the new coaches drill their squad for only an hour and a half each afternoon, using variety as the keyword of the practice. Blocking, tackling, scrimmage and signal drill are administered in short, snappy periods, always with the express purpose of providing mental as well as physical stimulus for the squad.

In the new Westminster grid sessions, the lowest substitute takes part in all of the work, and an injured player is always excused from the rough parts of the practice.

The psychology of the new members is to apply sarcasm with a smile, for purely constructive purposes. The Titan coaches work on the theory that although all players make mistakes, careful help will remedy these errors.

Instead of a tongue-lashing when a player misses a block, Coach Washabaugh is likely to drawl out: "What's the matter, boy, are you in love?" The man who makes a good play is always complimented. With both coaches showing enthusiasm, the squad naturally follows, and under cover of short practice sessions, concentrated drills, and a lively variety of football fundamentals, the new mentors are building up a team that should take Westminster out of the "even break for the season" class.

Other officers named were: Secretary and treasurer, Fred Pringle; inside guard, Ivor Johns; outside guard, Leo W. Hill. All of the elected officers have had wide experience in the field of sports, as arbitrators, managers and players. "Red" Keller was named as the association reporter.

Bessemer Meets Ursuline Next

Bessemer high school football team will play Ursuline high at the Bessemer high field on Saturday afternoon, it was announced today. The game will start at 2:30 o'clock.

The Bessemers won the opening game by handing Hubbard high a 28 to 0 defeat. Coach Capezutto has a strong team this year and hopes to be in the thick of the county football championship race. The Ursuline, Ohio, game will be another fine test of the Bessemer material this fall.

METHODISTS WIN

It was announced by Fulton McGill today that the First Methodist church golfing team had won the New Castle Church league golf championship for 1937, by the very slim margin of 5½ to 4½ over the First Presbyterians. The matches were played at the Castle Hills course.

Tarentum Star In Titan Squad

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Sept. 29.—Among the most promising of the freshman football candidates at Westminster college is Merle "Moe" Maffei, Tarentum. Aside from "Heinie" Wisenbaugh of Pitt fame, "Moe" is one of the speediest backs ever graduated from Tarentum high.

MAFFEI

After graduating from high school, Maffei played sandlot ball in Pittsburgh, and starred as a high scorer. He likes nothing better than ball-toting unless it is ice-packing, which he worked at during the past summer, in addition to part-time steel mill employment.

At Westminster, Maffei is majoring in business administration. Coach Washabaugh expects to use him in his regular backfield, and may start him in the Bethany game, October 2, which inaugurates the Titan season.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

John Henry Lewis, champion of light-heavyweights, plan a trip across the briney deep, having signed articles of agreement to defend his title against Jock McAvoy, a British light heavyweight in a 15-round bout at London, in late November. The bout will be staged by Art Elvin at the Wemblem stadium. According to reports it will be the last time Lewis will defend his title because he plans to enter the heavyweight division.

Paul Dean, St. Louis Cardinal pitcher and younger brother of Dizzy Dean who went on the voluntary retired list last month, has been voted a half share in the division of the world series money the Redbirds will receive for finishing third or fourth. The decision was reached prior to the Cardinals-Pirates game at Pittsburgh yesterday.

Carpenters today cleared up the wreckage "Young Bill," the Navy's football team's new goat mascot left behind when he went on a binge in the Annapolis repair shop yesterday. He got away from his courtyard before the William & Mary game Saturday and broke through a window into the shop. He broke several pieces of furniture, dined on glue and varnish and topped off his repast with a spot of upholstery.

Stewards of Rockingham park, Salem, N. H., have suspended Dick Pollard, trainer for horses for Mr. and Mrs. Paul A. Shaw of Newton, Mass., because they said, a saliva test showed presence of caffein after the 2-year-old filly, Stage Beauty, won by six lengths last Thursday. The case was referred to the state racing commission. Before any of their horses may race, a new trainer must be hired, it was reported.

Billy Conn and Teddy Yarosz, rival middleweights of this district, are in good condition for their 15-round bout Thursday night at Duquesne Garden, Pittsburgh, according to reports from both training camps. Conn won a decidedly close verdict in their first bout which resulted in a return match. Jack Trammel will oppose Stanley Ketchell in a 10-round semi-windup.

Twilight Song won the $9,295 Kentucky futurity in the Grand circuit racing at Lexington yesterday, clipping off her two miles in 2:01¾ and 2:01¼. In the 3-year-old trot, Hester Volo won in straight heats in 2:06¾. Kate Kennion took two firsts and a second in the 2:16 trot in 2:03¼ and Gail Grattan won all heats in the 2:20-2:16 pace in 2:05¼.

Greyhound, champion trotter, will try to break the world's mark of 1:56¾ at Lexington today. The record was made by Peter Manning in 1932. . . . Army and Penn football teams will meet for the first time since 1901, in 1940 at Philadelphia. . . . Because he was alleged to have taken a "dive" in a bout with Tommy Spiegal, the National Boxing commission will be asked by Chief Baby Miller, 135, was permitted to fight at Wheeling, W. Va., recently. He had been suspended by the West Virginia commission.

Lord Byron Nelson of Reading yesterday proved a better mudder than Henry Picard of Hershey as he gained a 5 and 4 victory in the scheduled 36-hole final round of the $12,000 Belmont open match play tournament at Belmont, Mass.

Union High Is Idle This Week

This is an open date week for the Union High gridders, coached by Wilbur Patterson. The Unions opened up with a swell victory over the Mars High lads, and are working hard to get in shape for the game with Mercer High on October 8.

Tigers To Find Different Team

New Castle High "Red Hurricane" Gets Pepped Up In Two Departments

FORWARD PASSES ARE CHIEF WORRY

Two departments of the New Castle "Red Hurricane" are coming in for brushing up this week. The football boys had another hard session Tuesday afternoon at Taggart Field. Friday night of this week the locals are called upon to face the Beaver Falls Tigers at Beaver Falls.

First there is that pass defense business to be straightened out. You can bet that no other team this year will pass the boys ragged like Youngstown East. The other department that has been woefully weak is the offense. New faces will be seen in the backfield this week to try and get a little zip into the offensive attack.

Eddie Sowinski, Stevie Lauro, Gender and "Kit" Mumeyak will all get a chance this week to show their wares. The only veteran in the backfield will be Sovesky. There is a possibility that Micaletti will not be in the starting lineup.

Break Up Passes

For two hours yesterday Bridenbaugh had the boys breaking up forward passes thrown by the reserves. The results are promising and if Coach Frank Walton of Beaver Falls thinks that his Tigers will pass this New Castle bunch ragged, he has another think coming.

Anyhow, the game at the Valley town to be staged in Reeves Stadium at 8 o'clock under the arc lights will be a humdinger. Last year the Tigers gave the "Red Hurricane" a real scare and the best the Bridenbaughmen could get was a 7 to 0 victory. The Valleyites want to avenge that defeat this season.

There may be some changes in the Beaver Falls lineup, according to Coach Walton. He is not satisfied with the way a few of the boys played against Monaca last week.

Copple Out Of Lineup

It was announced by Faculty Manager Ralph H. Gardner today that Frank Copple, the New Castle fullback, will be out of the Beaver Falls game due to an operation on his knee to replace a dislocated cartilege. It may be that the big fullback will also be out of the Washington High game the following week. Copple was taken to the New Castle hospital today to have the cartilege set.

Navy Goat Has New Stooges

(International News Service)

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Sept. 29—Dave Slaon and Bolton Rankin can take their football, but they can't leave it.

The two Navy stars of the past three seasons, who have completed their varsity careers under Naval Academy regulations, but who still have another year of scholastic work at the academy, felt they had to do something to remain with the team they served so faithfully.

So Dave and "Rabbit" applied for, and received, appointment as keepers of Bill, the 8th the famous Navy goat-mascot. They will convoy Bill at all games, at home and away.

Franklin High To Battle Struthers

Ben Franklin High football team will open the 1937 campaign on Friday afternoon by going to Struthers, Ohio, for a game with the Struthers Junior High eleven.

Coach Gillaspie and Assistant Coaches Bender and Wallace have been drilling the Franklins hard for the past two weeks. There is only one letterman back in school and he is DeMarco.

There has been about 50 out for the team this year. The boys have shown a determination despite the fact that they are mostly inexperienced.

Bessemer Team In Title Game

Bessemer baseball team, county league champions, will play the Farrell team at Youngstown this coming Sunday for the Slovak league championship, it was announced by Jim Martin, manager of the team, today.

The series is now even at one game apiece. The Bessemers hope to take the third and deciding game on Sunday.

The West Pittsburg-Bessemer series will be resumed on Sunday, October 10, with the playing of a double bill, it was announced.

Will more territory satisfy Germany, Italy and Japan? Well, did Capone voluntarily quit when he got rich?

Prediction for the record: If Japan wins she will organize Asia and white races will live in fear of a master.

Forward Pass Changed Game

Development In Grid Game In 1906 Changed Complex Of Football

By WALTER JOHNS
Central Press Sports Writer

In the old days, football was a crushing, bruising sport. Injuries were many, as were the complaints from school authorities.

Thus football, in 1905, was looked upon as a "bloody" sport. It dropped in favor. In the 1905-1906 season our football fathers made the most drastic changes ever made in the football code. Our modern game sprouts from this change.

Mass plays were barred, hurdling prohibited, and many other rules for a safer game adopted.

Most important innovation since the rule permitting running as well as kicking the ball—the forward pass—was introduced in 1906. It was to become the most sensational feature of the gridiron sport.

Among other things, the rules now reduced game time to 60 minutes, divided into two halves. Distance to gain a first down was changed to 10 yards. In 1908 scoring rules once more were changed, a field goal being made equal to three points, its value today. Score of a forfeited game was set at 1 to 0.

Local Gridder Is Injured Saturday

Frank "Tarzan" Crisci Sustains Broken Nose In Cincinnati

During the third quarter of the Western Reserve-Cincinnati University football game, played last Saturday in Cincinnati, Frank "Tarzan" Crisci, of Croton avenue, a member of the Western Reserve eleven, sustained a fractured nose.

Crisci, right tackle, proved one of the outstanding players on the field, scoring a touchdown. Crisci is the first sophomore in five years to earn a varsity berth on the Cleveland grid machine.

The Nut Cracker

There is generally two things you associate Saturday night with—second guessers in football and the bath.

We're still trying to figure out why pork is so high, look at the pigs they had to kill to make all these footballs.

Like the co-ed who wanted to know where the draw-back played on the team. G'rr! G'rr.

What became of all of those raccoon coats the "rah-rah" boys used to wear. They must be in the pawn shops.

When dad was a boy and played football they wore nose guards, remember? They looked something like Lon Chaney or Frankenstein. Funny how these fads wear out. Just like the subs pants who sits on the bench all year.

It's a long day from the olden days when a cheerleader had to go to bed for a couple of days to rest up after a game. The cheering nowadays sounds like a whisper compared to when the writer was a boy.

Whatever became of all those tackle-tandems and center rushes they used to have. Now back when men was men, ah'hem.

New Castle high goes down to Beaver Falls this Friday night. Better luck boys. Let's show the cash customers that that Youngstown game was just something else.

Of course readers, you can't take a thing away from this East High team. They had something. Definitely. But what would have happened if Mister Congemi had fallen out the back window of the bus on the way over.

The curbstone coaches have gone into secret session and have reported out that New Castle met a swell team last week and a team that was primed to lick them.

New international law: "The hard up may steal what they need to so long as nobody has the nerve to stop them."

(International News Service)

NEWARK, N. J., Sept. 29—Joe Beggs, Newark, right-hander, and Max Macon, Columbus southpaw, were slated for mound duty today as Newark and Columbus squared off for the first game of the little world series.

This Joe Beggs, the pitching sensation for the Newark team in the International league is none other than the Joe Beggs of javelin throwing fame at Geneva College a few years ago. He is the property of the New York Yankees.

Giants Need But Two More Games To Cinch Flag

May Get Them Today In Double-Bill With Philadelphia Phillies

CUBS STILL IN PENNANT FIGHT

By PAT ROBINSON
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Sept. 29—The Giants should, and probably will have another National League pennant won by nightfall.

They need only two more victories to clinch the pennant, regardless of what the Cubs do, and should get them in the doubleheader with the Phils today.

Everybody—including the weather man—is conspiring to make things easy for the Giants. The weather man did his bit yesterday when he washed out a doubleheader with the Bees and those games will never be played.

Cubs Still In Race

The Giants have another doubleheader with the Phils tomorrow and wind up with three single games against the Dodgers who have lost their last twelve games without a struggle.

The Cubs have two games with the Reds and three with the Cardinals. Herein lies another break for the Giants because the Cardinals are fighting desperately to win that third place money from the Pirates.

The Cubs kept themselves mathematically in the running yesterday when Clay Bryan pitched a two-hit 2 to 0 victory over the Reds. The Pirates supplanted the Cardinals in third place when Dutch Brandt scored his 11th victory, 6-2. Rain mercifully washed out the Dodgers and Phils.

Yanks Pound Ball

The Yanks gave the Giants a hint of what may be in store when Red Ruffing pitched a two-hit, 9 to 0, game against the Senators. And Joe DiMaggio, a young man the Giants' southpaws, Melton and Hubbell must handcuff if they are to beat the Yanks, weighed in with a double, triple and his 45th home run. Bill Dickey, another large pain in the neck to pitchers, contributed his 28th homer. The Senators won the second game, 2 to 1, behind the nifty pitching of Rookie Joe Krakauskas.

George Gill held the Browns to five hits and the Tigers won, 6-1, and the Indians beat the White Sox, 7-6. The second game was stopped at the end of the third with the Sox leading, 10 to 4.

Feller To Go Barnstorming

(International News Service)

CLEVELAND, Sept. 29—Bob Feller, the Indian's freshman speedball artist, will go on a 10 day barnstorming tour at the end of the regular baseball season, it was announced on Tuesday.

The young pitcher will leave the tribe at Detroit Sunday to join an all-star team making a short tour of Western cities. Lefty Weisman, Indian trainer, will accompany Feller.

Cities to be visited were Minneapolis, Cedar Rapids, Los Angeles, Kansas City, Tulsa and Oklahoma.

RHEUMATIC FINDS GYPSY MAGIC IS NOT A CURE-ALL

(International News Service)

DETROIT, Mich.—It cost Alexander A. Curry $850 to learn Gypsy magic does not cure rheumatism.

Curry told police a Gypsy told him him rheumatism would be cured if he wrapped his valuables in a handkerchief and slept with it under his pillow. She tied "Magic knots" in the handkerchief for him, Curry said.

When he awoke the rheumatism was not cured and Curry found the handkercief contained only newspaper clippings. His $850 was gone.

Fresh Spill In Stock Market

Prices Are Weak At Opening Of Market This Morning

By LESLIE GOULD
International News Service

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—The stock market suffered a fresh spill today, ending a two-day recovery from last week's break into new low ground. Leaders dropped from one to more than three points.

Prices were weak from the opening, with steels, coppers, rails, motors, farm implements, rubbers and oils leading the way downward. A modest rally ensued, but before the end of the first hour most groups were back to their early lows.

A few scattered issues bucked the decline, including Allied Chemical, Johns-Manville, Douglas Aircraft, B. M. T. and McIntyre Mines.

Declines reached three points in U. S. Steel, almost four in Youngstown and about three in Bethlehem. Republic lost more than a point.

Case dropped more than three and Deere two in farm implements; Anaconda, International Nickel and Kennecott more than two, and Phelps-Dodge more than a point. U. S. Rubber and Goodyear lost more than a point in the rubbers; Sears Roebuck two, and Chrysler three in motors.

Losses in the carrier section were relatively smaller.

Makes Jury History

Mrs. Julia Ehrentreu (above) made history in New York when she was chosen as first woman foreman in the debut of women jurors in New York courts. Testimony in a divorce case had to be modified, and attorneys were warned against the use of involved legal terms. These were the only concessions made by New York courts to the new co-ed juries. (Central Press)

In Slaying Hearing

Gertrude O'Keefe, bank typist held in Brooklyn, N. Y., in connection with the slaying of George O. Frank, Wall Street bank teller, is shown in the "pen" in Brooklyn Felony Court. A clash between the magistrate and her attorney, Samuel Leibowitz, marked the early hearing.

C. V. Patton Named Day Desk Sergeant By Ellwood Council

Women's Club Agrees To Equip Assembly Room For Rent Remittal

ELLWOOD CITY, Sept. 29—Upon the recommendation of the police committee, C. V. Patton, present caretaker of Ewing park, was named day desk sergeant of police by the Ellwood City boro council on Tuesday evening when they held an adjourned meeting at their quarters in the city building.

Following the resignation of Louis Conway, several months ago, this position has been temporarily filled by various members of the police department.

For the caretaker's vacancy at Ewing park, the police committee recommended that W. J. Nagel be named to serve until the park season terminates, November 1, at a rate of $100 per month.

In the future there will be no decorating the white way with posters and signs advertising various things. Paxton Fike made a motion that an ordinance be created to prohibit the use of the poles for any such purpose. The motion was unanimously carried.

Bids for the paving of an alley in Beechwood boulevard with the cost to be borne by the abutting property owners were opened. J. M. Pattison and E. F. Scanlon, both of New Castle, were the bidders and a decision will be reached before the next regular meeting.

Mrs. John Hough, president of the Ellwood City Women's club, on behalf of the organization, made a request to the council concerning the use of the assembly room for their monthly meetings. Mrs. Hough stated that the club would be willing to partially equip the kitchen, build a platform, purchase a number of chairs and bring their piano to the room in return for the remittal of the $5 rental fee for each meeting. The County Federation of Women's clubs plans to hold their spring meeting in this city and the local organization is desirous of completing suitable arrangements for the meeting. A motion by Councilman Menice that the request be granted was unanimously favored.

Bright new street signs will greet the town's residents in the future months. In order to provide employment for eight part time workers in Ellwood City, the N. Y. A. has requested that the boro furnish materials and supplies to have the street signs painted. The councilmen agreed to furnish the specified amounts for materials ranging from $75 to $100.

A petition from abutting Hillside avenue property owners requesting the paving of Hillside avenue from Second to Fifth streets in a like manner to the improvements recently made on Summitt avenue, was presented and given to the street committee for investigation and to report back to council.

A request of the John Brown Feed company to install an electric hammer mill at the present location on Spring avenue was referred to the street and health committee for investigation.

A controversial question regarding an alley and the old Harmony right of way in fifth ward was given to the street committee for an investigation.

Just who may and who may not park in back of the city building and what arrangements could be made for a satisfactory system was discussed by the organization and the police committee was requested to make a recommendation concerning the matter.

A light will be placed underneath the stop lights at the street intersections in order to enable motorists to have a better vision of the traffic officers during hours of congested traffic.

Junior Gridders To Open Season Friday Afternoon

Coach Harold Burry Has Team Prepared For Opening Battle In Junior W. P. I. A. L.

ELLWOOD CITY, Sept. 29.—Ellwood City Junior High school gridders will make their 1937 debut on Friday afternoon when they journey to Aliquippa for the year's inaugural. The kick-off is scheduled for 3:30.

Coach Harold Burry has been training his young hopefuls for the past month and the team promises potential strength that should provide a very busy afternoon for all their opponents.

A tentative line-up for the opener has been announced and includes: Segredi and Leopardi, end; Geary and Blaine, tackles; Young and Taylor, guards; Pishioneri, center; Lordi, quarter; Wright, right half; Lewchenko, left half; and Cartwright, fullback.

The following schedule will be played this year by the Ellwoodians:

October 1—At Aliquippa.
October 8—Mahoning, here.
October 15—George Washington, here.
October 22—At Butler.
October 29—At Beaver.
November 5—Ambridge, here.

Scrimmage practice sessions and new plays have held the attention of the regular gridders this week. The gridders emerged from the Wellsville game in good shape with the exceptions of Andy Fehl, left end, and Nick Gib, right guard, who sustained sprained ankles. Frank Blaine, right end, is again bothered by an old leg injury that has trailed him all season.

Ellwood City varsity will travel to Rochester on Saturday afternoon for the first out-of-town game. While Rochester has emerged on the short end of their first two games, defeated 14 to 6 by Aliquippa and 25 to 7 by Midland, they have in their many years of football relations with Ellwood City, often upset the locals hope for valley honors. December, right half, and Jersey left end, of the Rochester outfit, were the outstanding players in Saturday's game with Midland. Saturday's game will see the Ellwood blue and white against the Rochester blue and white with the locals accorded the edge by a comparison of the two school's statistics for the year.

Special Class To Begin Oct. 4 For School Pupils

Class For Children Of Low Mental Age To Be Held In Ewing Park School

ELLWOOD CITY, Sept. 29.—A special class for children of the Ellwood City school district having a low mental age will be started on Monday morning, October 4, in the Ewing Park school.

At a special meeting of the board held last evening, Miss Marie Wright was elected teacher of the class. Miss Wright has been teaching since 1915 and has had much valuable training in this line of work. She completed her college work at Indiana State Teachers college and the University of Pittsburgh.

The amended school code makes several provisions covering the situation of children below the normal mental age. A special class must be established whenever ten children or more in one district are subjects for special education. Free transportation may be furnished for such pupils and the commonwealth will reimburse the school district in the same manner and amounts as provided in the case of closed schools. This amounts to 60 per cent for Ellwood City.

There is sufficient surplus in the teachers salaries item in the budget to provide a teacher for such a class and the district will get $900 reimbursement on the salary of this teacher.

Pupils will report to their own school building from where they will be transported to Ewing Park school.

A vacancy in the night school teaching staff in the business English department was filled by the election of Mrs. Paul McElroy.

Upon a request of industrial concerns of this city, two night school classes in shop math and blue print reading will be started for employees of these concerns. The classes will come under the George-Dean federal vocational act and the Ellwood district will receive one hundred per cent reimbursement on the teachers' salaries. Two teachers, Raymond Brownstein and John Hancher, were elected for the new classes.

Monday evening, October 4, is the date of the next regular meeting.

LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE—NICE RECEPTION

Inquest Is Held In Stroud Death

Coroner's Jury Hears Evidence Of Circumstances Surrounding Child's Death

FATALLY HURT SEPTEMBER FIRST

Formal inquiry into the circumstances surrounding the death of little Mary Lou Stroud, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar E. Stroud, of North Cascade street, who died in the New Castle hospital September 1, at 5:20 p. m., of injuries received about 1 p. m. that same day, when struck by the automobile of T. W. Blair, of R. F. D. No. 4, near the intersection of Croton avenue and Cascade street, was conducted by Coroner Orville Potter in the court room of Alderman L. C. Mantz last evening.

The verdict brought in by the jury was that the child met her death as a result of injuries received when struck by Mr. Blair's automobile. No recommendations were made by the jury.

John Memo, of 1137 East Brook street, stated that he was sitting in front of Tony Lorenzo's place on Croton avenue, the second building above Cascade street. He saw the little Stroud girl come around the corner of the building occupied by her father's confectionery store, just a few seconds before she was hit. A little later he heard the sound of two bumps, and looking out, saw the child against the front of Mr. Blair's car. The machine went to the left of the street and stopped about ten feet beyond the child's body.

Concussion Caused Death

Dr. J. M. Popp stated that he was called to attend the injured child in the New Castle hospital. She had suffered a fracture of the left thigh bone and was suffering from shock. Her condition indicated a possible fracture of the skull, but X-rays revealed no fracture. He stated that death was due to a concussion of the brain.

Joe Mancini, who works at Colaluca's Service Station at the corner of Croton avenue and Cascade street, opposite the Stroud store, said that he had heard the bump as the child was struck and went out and picked the child up. He told Mr. Blair to take the child to the hospital and accompanied him. She was unconscious when picked up.

John Bogdan, of 602 Spearman avenue, Farrell, stated that he was sitting in a truck in front of Stroud's store having accompanied a friend here as he was making deliveries of pop. He said he saw the little girl come out of the store, and yell at a boy across the street, who came over and talked to her. He took his eyes off the children to look into the store, just seconds later, when he heard the screech of brakes alongside the truck. He got out and went around the truck and saw the little child's body lying in the street at a point about 60 feet east of Cascade street.

The body was just back of the back wheels of the car which was headed towards the left curb of the street.

Driver Tells Story

Mr. Blair stated that he was proceeding east on Croton avenue and just before reaching Cascade street, had noticed by his speedometer that he was going 20 miles an hour. He might have increased his speed slightly at this point as there is a hill ahead, but it would not be very much.

His impression was that the child was in front of two trucks which were parked in front of the store, the second one an ice cream truck, but he could not be sure. He said the child seemed to be heading straight across the street, making every effort to get across as quickly as possible. He said he did not have time to avoid striking the child.

Mr. Stroud stated that the child would have been seven years of age on next November 19.

FROM ME TO YOU

By MESEEALL.

As the days roll past the A. F. of B. keeps growing by leaps and bounds . . . today's mail brings the following applications . . . these boys are enrolled in Local No. 1 . . . James Barrett (application stated that he was a particularly fascinating bachelor) . . . Ralph Davies, Bill Mackie, Bill Trick, Charles Kennedy and Jack Bechtol . . . there is still room for you . . . send in your name today.

It seems from the reports received at this desk . . . there has been a grave misunderstanding concerning the proper dress for social functions . . . my dear friends this idea was submitted by a prominent business man of this city and being in sympathy with the idea we published it . . . it seems that some people think we had the idea because we had a dinner jacket . . . no it wasn't that . . . the old suit hasn't been out of the moth closet for so long that it should be able to walk . . . that is the case with many fellows . . . these are the boys that want to wear them to a few dances this winter . . . a man should dress the way he wants to but he should want to dress right . . . we still think a style show for men would be very interesting . . . maybe we could get something up on that idea . . . Fellows, how about your comments on the dress idea.

We hear that the Legion has started a campaign to send the Band to California next summer . . . they have a real Band and we are glad to see the boys take the honors . . . this would be a big undertaking but well worth the effort . . . it wouldn't mean a lot of money to anyone person if it was worked right . . . may we suggest it be divided into three or more parts . . . "The Legion Band to California in 1938".

What is more beautiful than the State of Pennsylvania . . . especially at this time of year . . . the leaves are turning a galaxy of colors . . . the air is clear and crisp . . . the wild life are getting ready for winter . . . folks we have a wonderful state and the sooner you know it the better . . . see United States, but see Pennsylvania first.

Stock Market Opens Up Strong

Margin Selling Results In Paring Gains In Morning, However

By LESLIE GOULD
International News Service Financial Writer

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—The stock market opened strong today, after its collapse of last week, but soon ran into margin selling and early gains running to more than 4 points were reduced by a half to two-thirds.

Higher markets abroad, particularly in American stocks, and the further moves by the government to give business the "needle" through easing credit, were factors in the strong opening.

U. S. Steel, which was up more than 3 points in London, opened here on an over-the-weekend gain of 2½, but this was reduced to a fraction by the second hour. The same with most of the other market leaders. Bethlehem's 3¼ gain was pared to 1¼, and in the motors Chrysler gave up 2½ points of its initial 4-point advance.

The rails surrendered about half their opening gains. Atchison, starting 1½ higher, slipped back 1¼ above Saturday's close, Southern Pacific's 1½ rise was cut to ¾, and B. & O. held only ⅛ of a 1⅛ rise.

The coppers, up 1 to 2½, lost a point or more of this advance, while in the oils there were a scattering of minus signs. Standard Oil of N. J. sank to a new low, converting a ¾ gai ninto a loss of 1¼.

Rail equipments were another laggard group, Pullman making a new low, off ½.

Brokers were generally optimistic on the outlook, most of them looking for a substantial rally after the severe decline of the last six weeks.

General opinion both in brokerage and business circles is that the selling has been overdone. Business leaders are almost unanimous, except possibly in the railroad, railroad equipment and textile lines, that trade conditions do not warrant the current pessimism.

Neglected Cold Proves Fatal To American Minister

(International News Service)

VIENNA, Sept. 27.—A neglected cold which turned suddenly into double pneumonia was blamed today for the death of Grenville Taylor Emmet, former law partner of President Roosevelt, who presented his credentials as American minister to Austria only ten days ago.

Emmet, a great-grandnephew of Robert Emmet, famous Irish patriot, caught the cold Thursday, but continued his diplomatic duties until Saturday. His widow and two daughters arrived from Paris today.

Born in New Rochelle, N. Y., Emmet was 60 years old last Aug. 2. He was the senior law partner in the firm then known as Emmet, Marvin, and Roosevelt in New York which Franklin D. Roosevelt joined after his defeat for the vice-presidency in 1920.
